

AB KIRWAN PUTS SQUAD THROUGH LIGHT WORKOUT

Fifty-Two Gridders Turn Out
For Initial Drill
Under New Mentor

PRACTICE WILL LAST
FOR SIX MORE WEEKS

Contact Sessions Will Start
Next Week, Says
Coach

Ab Kirwan took up the duties of head football coach, for the first time yesterday afternoon, and sent the squad through a light work-out consisting of game fundamentals. A total of 52 men reported for practice with additional new men swelling the ranks.

The team will be sent through light work-outs for the remainder of the week in a tune-up for heavier contact work next week, Coach Kirwan said.

The backfield was supervised by Kirwan, with Moseley assisted by Rupert working the ends. Shively put the guards and tackles through their paces and Gene Myers took over the duties of coaching the centers.

The spring training sessions will continue for at least six weeks, Kirwan said, and regular practice games will be held throughout the rest of the season.

In the event of bad weather the team will use the alumni gym for their workouts.

Bleachers will be erected on the practice field for the first time, so students and other visitors can sit on the sidelines and watch the Cats go through their paces.

For the first time in many years a noticeable lack of varsity backs was apparent on the field. A large group of freshmen backs are expected to fill the many vacancies left by graduating seniors and the varsity backs injured during the past football season.

The linemen on the squad seem to men being available for every position. The freshmen linemen are of men being available for every position better than usual with plenty of good calibre and should give many of the veteran linemen a hard fight for varsity positions next year.

Faculty Choristers Will Hold Second Meeting March 8

Organized to provide an opportunity for staff members to sing and enjoy good music, the recently formed faculty choral society, under the direction of Dr. William Van de Wall, will hold its second meeting next Tuesday night, March 8, at the home of Prof. and Mrs. G. D. Buckner, 416 North Limestone street.

The group is a revival of an almost similar organization that existed on this campus several years ago, but its purpose varies slightly. Unlike its predecessor, it will not engage in concert work, but will serve only as a means to bring faculty members together twice monthly to sing for their own enjoyment.

PURNELL TALKS ON GOLD

"Gold in Colombia" was the subject of a talk by James Purnell, a graduate of the University, given before members of Sigma Gamma Epsilon, national honorary fraternity in geology, mining, and metallurgy, and guests last night. Purnell, an alumnus of the fraternity, told of his recent work prospecting for the South American Gold and Platinum Co. in Colombia.

Editorial Page Today

By some unprecedented miracle or, possibly, a slip-up on the part of the advertising department, today's editorial page is mainly devoted to editorials. We, much to our astonishment, were able to run all of our editorials, and even the regular columns, including that of the much-abused Mr. Lamason.

"Our Gaso-Mania is the third in a series of 'What's Wrong With Us and Why?' editorials.

"A Son Returns Home" welcomes the return of Coach "Ab" Kirwan to his Alma Mater.

"Honorary On A New Basis" explains and clarifies the new system whereby the business office handles the funds of the campus organizations.

Presenting an often-debated subject, "Sorority System Unfair" offers food for thought.

Our usual columns, "The Peerscoop," "Sideshow," and "On The Lam" await your perusal.

A four-case exhibit portraying the background work of Dr. John S. Chambers on his recently published book, "The Conquest of Cholera - America's Greatest Scurge," has been exhibited for the past week on the main floor of the library.

The exhibit featured in part the original notes, the story in long hand, the first typewritten form, and the final form sent to the publishers. Galley proofs of footnotes and page proofs of references were also included.

Plans have been completed for Pan-Politikon's study of Austria to begin March 1 and last throughout the month, it was announced yesterday.

First of the campus-wide programs will be given Sunday afternoon, March 6, in Memorial hall. It will consist of the usual vesper service featuring the University philharmonic orchestra which will give a program containing works of Johann Strauss.

Charlotte de Hajek, director of the National Hungarian Theater at Budapest, will speak at a woman's convocation at 4 p. m. Wednesday, March 9, in Memorial hall. She will also speak to the international relations class and to students interested in drama.

"Idiot's Delight," the Guignol play now in production, is also in conjunction with the Pan-Politikon program as the plot is laid in lost Austrian territory.

The convocation speaker who appears on the Pan-Politikon roster is Oskar Morganstern, an Austrian sociologist who will speak upon various aspects of his native country. Arrangements for a College Night with a travelogue on Austria at the Strand theater has been made for Friday, March 25. YWCA and YMCA have also been planning an all-campus party with an Austrian theme.

Miss Anne Callahan and Prof. E. W. Rannels, of the art department, are preparing speeches to be given in McVey hall at dates which will be announced later.

In addition to all of these projected programs, there will be a display in the library beginning the week of March 7. A shelf of books on Austria, completed from the Pan-Politikon bibliography, plus a number of pamphlets will also be exhibited. Pamphlets on Austria will be given to students interested in the subject.

Lectures on some related phase will be given in the classes of each department in all colleges which are cooperating with Pan-Politikon.

John C. Thomas Closes Current Concert Series

Baritone's Selections Are Warmly Accepted By Audience

By S. LOUISE CALBERT

With a masterful interpretation that matched his forceful appearance, John Charles Thomas, baritone, concluded the current series of the Community Concert association, Friday night at the Henry Clay high school auditorium.

Mr. Thomas and his accompanist, Carroll Hollister, responded generously to the demands of the audience, and the enthusiasm of the listeners increased as the program progressed. Counteracting his somewhat heavy program with an encore in a lighter mood, Mr. Thomas strove to satisfy all the tastes of his audience.

The opening part of the program included a group of German selections sung with the depth of tone and sincere emotion by which Mr. Thomas has distinguished himself. "Eros" by Grieg received an intricate technical rendition, while in less serious style, "The Joyful Widow" a Robert Burns poem set to music by Hermann Han Wetzler, gave the first indication of the singer's whimsical humor.

In the second and third parts of the program both performers showed a particular liking for French music. As soloist, Mr. Hollister played the fantastic "Submerged Cathedral" by Debussy with combined precision and obvious delight in the selection for its beauty alone.

Mr. Thomas' second group was composed of two selections by Maurice Ravel, "En Barque" by Gabriel Pierne, and "Phidyle" by Henri Duparc. These were presented with excellent enunciation and easy control of the slightest tone shadings.

With the final and lightest group of the program, Mr. Thomas was recalled again and again. "Old Skin" flint by Herbert Howells, "Ulysse" by George Siemmon, and "Rhymes of a Rover," an Irish lyric set to music by Mr. Thomas' accompanist were enthusiastically received.

Swimmers Defeat Loyola, But Bow Before Indiana

The Wildcat mermen evened up their win and loss columns at Loyola and three by defeating the Loyola swimming team of Chicago last Saturday night in the Windy City by a score of 37 to 29.

Captain and coach, Sherman Hinklebein, again starred by winning the breast stroke event and swimming breast stroke on the winning medley relay team. The Wildcat team took five firsts out of the eight events.

By winning the 150 yard medley relay, Scott, Hinklebein, and Roberts kept the record of this team free from defeat. Since the advent of the swimming team three years ago in University athletics, the medley team has remained undefeated.

Hinklebein was defeated for the first time in his swimming career when the swimmers of Indiana University defeated the Cats in the first of the Kentuckians' two meet trip. Undefeated for three years, the Wildcat captain was nosed out by a yard.

In recent meets, Curtis, who is serving his first season on the team, has added great strength to the squad in the diving department.

Quartet Stars, Band Plays On Sunday Vesper Program

Audience Of One Thousand
Fails To Appreciate
Sunday Concert In Memorial Hall

By ALLENBY E. WINER

One thousand persons filed into Memorial hall Sunday afternoon, listened calmly as the featured University concert band presented the major portion of a serious program, and then filed out, convinced that Jesse Mountjoy, Harlowe Dean, Donald Galloway, and Robert Dean are an excellent vocal quartet.

Strangely, it was the second successive time a minor attraction had stolen the show at a vesper musical.

The some 60 instrumentalists composing the band brought to the roster a popular reputation; consequently, they were taken for granted by an audience which, contrary to its proportions, dragged sadly in enthusiasm. Only once did it applaud heartily, and that when the four vocalists sang through Steiner's "Plantation," and "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes." Truthfully, the program appeared too good for those in attendance to appreciate.

Four really fine selections went by before the assemblage showed any signs of awakening. First came "Prelude to Kunthilg" by Cyrill Kistler, followed by the excellent Overture to "Beatrice and Benedict," from the pen of Berlioz. If an audience fails to acclaim the latter, there is something wrong. Such was the case; the gathering would have provided a fertile field for a study of crowd psychology.

Christiansen's "Second Norwegian Rhapsody" was received with the same degree of coolness, as was the brass quintet, featuring Percy Lewis, John Fietz, Norman Lewis, James Dull, and Fred Mainous. The Overture of "Maid of Astoria" by Secchi was admirably played and did elicit a good share of applause, as did Newman's modern "Street Scene."

However, here the University quartet, as they call themselves, took the platform, and within but a few measures of singing, completely won their audience. Their balance, harmony, and timing was perfect, and they were given a hearty ovation. Their rendition of "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes" was made especially beautiful by some colorful improvisations by the band.

The program was completed with two beautiful scores by the concert band, "Selection from Eugene Onegin," by Tschickowsky, and the ever-colorful march, "Cribiribin," by Pestalozza.

The now nearly-aroused audience called for an encore to the program, which was given with the popular march, "Barnum and Bailey."

McVEY REVIEWS WORLD AFFAIRS

Present Situation In Europe
Is Scanned In Radio Talk;
Foreign Powers' Attitudes
Are Interpreted

In the first of two scheduled broadcasts on "An Economist Looks at the World," Dr. Frank L. McVey Monday reviewed the European situation and its recent developments. The program was broadcast over stations WHAS and WLAP.

A reciprocal trade agreement between the United States and Great Britain is being discussed by the state department and British delegates," Doctor McVey said. He expressed hope that it would be a model for other nations to follow toward peace.

Anthony Eden, former secretary of Great Britain, wants England to remain in the League, while Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain wants to begin now and secure peace by immediate agreement between the nations involved, Doctor McVey asserted.

Italy wants England to recognize an Italian share of the Suez Canal, a guarantee that the canal will remain open in time of war, and the Italian Empire which includes Ethiopia, Doctor McVey stated.

Germany demands the return of colonies given to Great Britain at the close of the World War. Hitler's recent speech, was modest and routine. If Austria becomes Nazi-fied, Czecho-Slovakia will be Germany's next victim, Dr. McVey claimed.

"Shall Labor Rule?" the first forum in the series, which was held Thursday, February 24, was led by Homer Clay, London, Ky., who stated the case for labor. He asserted that the labor movement should serve the fundamental purpose of changing the present economic order.

All faculty members and students are invited to attend the forums which will be held for the next three Thursdays in Patterson hall.

Big Blue Will Meet Winner Of Tulane - Georgia Tilt Thursday Night

SQUAD OF TEN LEAVES
AT 7:35 A. M. TODAY

Kentucky Given Top Seeded
Position In Tourney
Pairings

By JOE CREASON

With an undefeated conference season behind them, Kentucky's Wildcats entrained at 7:35 a. m. today for Baton Rouge, La., where on March 3, 4 and 5 they will defend the Southeastern crown they annexed last year in Knoxville.

The Cat hemp decorators will make their first defense stand Thursday night pitted against the winner of the Tulane-Georgia fray. The victor of the Alabama-Vanderbilt tilt will tangle with Georgia Tech Thursday night to determine the team to meet Kentucky, if the Cats are victorious, in the semi-finals Friday night.

Making their final invasion for the Cats were seniors Capt. J. Rice Walker, Joe Hagan and Charley Combs, who will be weeded from the squad by June graduation.

With another cup winning trip at the end of a rough path, Coach Rupp sent his squad through strenuous drills Sunday and Monday.

Members of the 19 man squad that left this morning on the 26-hour ride include Walker, Hagan, Combs, Curtis, Oppen, Rouse, Thompson, Cluggish, Goodman and Head.

The conference pairings held Sunday gave the Cats the top seeded position and definitely marked them as the team to eliminate for the title. Mississippi, Georgia Tech, and Auburn were the other teams to merit seeded rankings.

These four squads and Louisiana State, host team, were granted first round byes, automatically advancing them to the second round, which will open Thursday night.

Of the seeded combines, Kentucky and Georgia Tech were placed in the lower bracket with Auburn and Mississippi being arranged in the upper division. Mississippi finished the year in second slot with 11 wins and 2 defeats followed by Georgia Tech with 8 wins and 2 reverses.

In the upper bracket, the Rebels of Mississippi are expected to have an easy time with Auburn the only team strong enough to cause any exertion. The finals will be disputed Saturday night and unless an upset occurs, Kentucky and Mississippi will be on hand to provide the entertainment.

Although a consensus of sports writers agreed that the Rebels possess very little with which to trap the Wildcats, Coach Rupp expects the Southerners to provide Kentucky with an uneasy night.

Louisiana's new coliseum will be the scene of the contests, with Louisiana State acting as host school for the first time. The coliseum is capable of seating 8,000 customers and capacity audiences are expected for all the sessions. Olney "Bowler" Chest, far from a stranger to Cat fans, and Ben Chapman will officiate the tournament.

Due to the lateness of the game, the Kernel will be unable to carry an account of the Cats opening battle but will carry a summary of the entire tourney in Tuesday's issue. Radio station WLAP will broadcast the final and semi-final round games by leased wire.

Pictures For New Commerce Booklet Go To Engravers

Membership in the magazine, which has proved highly efficient in the past, is restricted to students enrolled in the College of Commerce and those taking related subjects.

Pictures for the 1938 publication, the sixth edition, were sent to the engravers yesterday. The magazine is expected to be ready for distribution by the latter part of the month.

Officers of the employment association, publishers of the magazine, are Sam McDonald, president, Felix Murray, vice president, W. A. Tolman, general secretary and Frank Hill, auditor.

A Son Returns Home

It was the year the world's attention was focused on the plight of a Kentucky miner—Floyd Collins—when he was trapped in a subterranean labyrinth near Cave City, Ky., by a falling rock which caught his leg. It was the year of the trial at Dayton, Tenn., of John Thomas Scopes. It was the year when William Jennings Bryan died, as an aftermath of the Scopes trial. It was the year that the "Big Six" of baseball—Christy Mathewson—died. It was the year Eugene O'Neill's "They Knew What They Wanted" was a Broadway hit; when movie patrons were seeing the "Big Parade"; when Theodore Dreiser's "An American Tragedy" was a best seller.

It was 1925.

But the biggest news that year on the U. K. campus was none of those things.

The year 1925 was made memorable on the campus because it was the year Kentucky fans watched the Big Blue plough under Centre College's Colonels 16-0, the first victory for Kentucky over the Gold and White in seven years. To cap the season, Kentucky loyalists were privileged to see a tall, black-haired halfback toss three touchdown passes to Len Tracy, now a Louisville sports writer, as the Cats defeated Tennessee 23-20.

The leader of the triumph over Centre was Albert Dennis "Ab" Kirwan. It was he, the Wildcat captain, who tossed the passes to Tracy. In those glorious victories he climaxed three years of varsity competition.

Thirteen years after he captained the Wildcats through a successful campaign, including those two highly satisfactory victories, and seventeen years after he first came to the University as a freshman, Ab returns as head football coach, bring his wife and four-year-old Ab junior. He returns with a record as a successful high school coach; but more important, he returns as he left—a clean-cut gentleman and leader.

He may rest assured that he, the first alumnus to be head U. K. football coach, has the best wishes and support of the student body, the faculty, alumni, and University friends.

THE KERNEL assures him of its wholehearted allegiance and support.

Speaking for the University, THE KERNEL says:

"Welcome home, Ab."

Our Gaso-Mania

THE manner in which we, the student body of the University of Kentucky drive and handle our cars on the campus is unsafe and inconsiderate, not to mention unlawful.

On the numerous campus drives, especially the "main drag" bordering the Administration building, we speed recklessly and unlawfully, notwithstanding the fact that they are lined with cars from behind which students may step at any moment, especially during the noon hour.

While waiting for someone who is supposedly inside a certain building, we sit impatiently and play a tattoo on the horn, unmindful of classes which may be meeting at that hour. Did you ever try to concentrate on a trig problem, or an Emerson essay, with a nerve-racking auto horn blasting outside the window? If you have, well—nuff said.

We also park in any zone which happens to suit our immediate purpose, despite the fact that we have no permit for that particular zone. The fact that we are depriving someone of his lawful right to park there doesn't bother us in the least.

We don't mean to be deliberately careless or inconsiderate. We just don't think. We can be fined for our thoughtlessness and forget the whole thing until the next violation and fine. But we would think for quite a while if, through our own carelessness, we fatally injured or maimed for life, one of our fellow students.

Wouldn't we?

Sorority System Unfair?

FRESHMEN women at Leland Stanford University are revolting against the sorority system now existing on the campus, terming it "unfair" in that it permits only one-third of first year students to accept bids to the nine social sororities.

The frosh charge that the pledging system causes many bitter disappointments, produces a feeling of inferiority among those girls rejected, and breaks up desirable freshman friendships. As a result of their asking freshmen women to refuse all sorority bids, the insurgents have reduced pledging at the University by twenty-two percent.

The rebellious women may be right; doubtless there is justification for their stand. However, on the other hand, an average sorority girl would, in all probability, retaliate with an argument similar to the one following.

A revolt of this type is childish, as well as foolish. As in the case on most camps, sororities are limited in their pledging by the extent of their housing accommodations. Whenever sororities exist, it is inevitable that a certain percentage of girls will experience disappointments and injured feelings. It is a recognized fact that sororities, or almost any other organized group, for that matter, can not accept everyone who seeks admittance to their ranks.

Either the girls who are promoting the revolt are not sorority material, or there is a need for another sorority on the campus. They would accomplish much more by restraining their petty feelings and uniting their efforts for the establishment of new organizations.

Honoraries On A New Basis

IN ORDER to provide a uniform method of bookkeeping, and a business basis for campus organizations, the University senate has adopted a plan whereby all student organizations except social fraternities and sororities must deposit their funds with the University business agent.

Sound in purpose and logical in point, the plan, which has been approved by the Men's Student Council and A. W. S., offers an effective solution of the financial tangles in which honoraries often find themselves. It will end the frequent inefficiency which has in the past characterized bookkeeping within these organizations.

Although it provides supervision of the recording and keeping of funds, the system does not in any way attempt to govern their expenditures within the separate student groups. Thus, it does not infringe on the independence of the honorary fraternities. Because it does not impair freedom, but tends to improve the financial outlook of organizations, the method is one which by all means should be put into immediate effect, with the full cooperation of the groups concerned.

ON THE LAM

By GEORGE LAMASON

THE LATEST slaughter of the King's English defies classification. You stress the wrong word and change the meaning of the sentence. Like: Where do you think it'll get you—in the end? What have you got on—tomorrow? How do you feel—useless? What do you do in this dump—truck? What do you hear—from the mob? How are we going to get this drunk—home? Who do you think you are—anyhow?

What is all this—stuff?

One night at the Cottage a couple were in a heated argument. The girl claimed that boys chased girls more than girls chased boys. The boy said that she had it backward. So they planned an experiment to find out.

They moved to opposite ends of the bar with a half-dozen stools between them. If the first man that came in sat next to the girl, that should signify that the masculine sex was the aggressor. If, on the other hand, the first girl sat next to the man, that would prove the female of the species was the pursuer.

A man entered and sat next to the boy. Another entered and stood next to the bar. In the next half-hour four more men seated themselves as far as possible from the girl.

Finally a woman entered, sized up the situation at the bar, walked over to a table, and sat by herself.

The boy and girl decided that it was a noble experiment, but people just won't act as they are supposed to.

The columnist business is flourishing. President Roosevelt is the latest addition to the ranks. It is interesting to speculate on the title of his forthcoming column. Maybe it will be called "Supreme Courting," "Brain Busts," "Alphabet Soup," "Plowing It Under," "I Rule as I Please," or "On the Trier Side."

Dr. Funkhouser defines a potato as something that stays a minute in your mouth, an hour in your stomach, a lifetime on your hips.

SIDESHOW

By DON IRVINE

COLORFUL, spectacular, pleasing in every respect, the military ball remains a pleasant memory three days after. It was a handsome affair. Mingled with evening clothes were uniforms, lending a sort of gallantry to the general tone, and the majority of people were in high good humor. The ceremonies themselves were satisfactorily swift and were performed with appropriate military precision. Search though one might, there is little fault to be found with the Caissons' cotillion.

Billed as the star of the occasion was Miss Paula Stone, a vivacious, slightly painted young lady who appeared as

As Professor Portmann would expound, "Things that are common, need never be mentioned," but it does look like we'll have to discredit that statement. All this, of course, is about the pinnings and unpinnings about the campus, so we'll go into some again about the broken romances and ecstasies concerning the new mergers.

With the Kappa's and the Phi Delt's all lined up, we have the many times pinned Virginia Alsop and Taber Brewer and Genevieve Montgomery and William Hall. As to Genevieve's romance, it bothers her to no end that people persist in thinking that the man in question is Frank Dutton, and the Kappa housemother is fairly wringing her hands. She's afraid, with spring coming on, that everybody's going to get the fever. It just isn't ethical.

On this matter we make no direct statements. We only quote items from Friday's Kernel. From The Peeriscoop—"What Alpha Gamma is sporting a Chi Phi pin from the University of Virginia?" From the Alpha Gamma social notes—"Ellen Coyte spent the week-end at the University of Virginia and attended the mid-winter dances."

We have no comment to make.

While her pinnee, Jack Nuxol was convalescing in the hospital sans appendix, "Duly" Ligon and her former flame, Tommy Ledridge were being seen together while his pinnee, Henry Clay high school Betty Tapscott was also recovering from an appendicitis operation. Now the whole affair has turned out that "Duly" is minus Jack's Phi Tau pin, but she still dates him. And we must quote here the old Chinese proverb, "a woman doesn't know her own mind."

At Saturday night's moon-glowing Military Ball we have Lillian Gaines Webb and her habitual Jimmy Smeed getting their pictures taken by a Courier-Journal photographer in the midst of a lovely glide. Ben DeHaven, Groselose and other sundry males doing the Big Apple with fluffy haired Paula Stone. Nancy Orrell breaking all records since Johnny Morgan came back to town fresh from Florida with a sun-tan. Ticky Scholtz and Sue Smith. Virginia Logan and her Western State Teachers' College man, Freeman Carruthers. Martha Kelley and military man Milton McGruder.

Quite a sensation, we might even go so far as to say a furor, was created at the hall one night when Ben DeHaven and "Shotgun" Wedding appeared at dinner guests. Since that feat, it has gotten to be quite the thing, and now Marjorie Reiser will have her one-and-only, Engineer Fred McCrae, as her guest, while "What about will esport Kappa Sig Jim Dotson. We pursue our lips, and murmur ts, ts, ts. What is the hall coming to?

Chio pledge Glenda Burton has been for the past few days receiving one red rose, boxed very nicely and tied with ribbon. On the first delivery, the card attached said "From an Unknown Admirer." Now it merely reads "Ditto." Glenda is coddling her brain and bottom-holing her acquaintances, but it does no good. She at least wants to thank the man for his generosity.

Campus Clutter

Since Ray Lathrem's recent catastrophe, or maybe it all happened before then, Mary Ellen de Maro has been traipsing around with footloose and fancy-free. As far as the Delt chapter is concerned, Didi Castle's emotions have been formerly directed to Jamie Thompson, but Sunday she slipped one up and went out to dinner with pledge "Hoot" Combs. Tommy Riley, alumnus or something, was down for the week-end to catch a glimpse of Lois King. Mabel Payton has practically started a fruit stand, what with the bushel of oranges she bought for the house. It all turned out that the Alpha Gams were quite well supplied with oranges, so now Payton is selling them at two for a nickel. Kappa Sig Herb Hargett thinks Nancy Lipscomb is pretty cute. The Phi Sigs are wondering what happened to Lon Dorsey's cute little magazine saleswoman. KD pledge Avis Norman was the recipient of a corsage Saturday night and again Sunday morning. Sigma Chi Willis O. Jones, who is pinned to a homestead girl, is now on the search for beauty to keep him company while he is in school (adv.).

Upon seeing Bill Boston on the campus, Bebe Chauvet became so flustered that she ran into a tree. Dick Robinson and Sherman Hinklebein created a huge sensation Wednesday afternoon when they appeared at Mrs. McVey's tea as the Chio Harrier. Estes received numerous undecipherable telegrams and picture postcards from her Harry in Gawgia. Then too she seems to be boosting her stock right well with law student Jack Baker, who has practically taken up lodging at the big white house. Alpha Gam Dottie Broadbent and alumnus Jesse Keith have swapped his pin again for the 999th time. Now she's wearing it. Miriam Gardhouse, former abhorrer of the weed, has taken up smoking. It all happened in an ATO party. Kappa Martha Hawkins was in all in a dither because her heart-patter Buddy Rush was up for the week-end. The yellow-haired girl of the Chios, Emily Quigley, has been dashing around in Phi Delt Charlie Kolb's Packard. Lillian Berry Clark advertised for a week for a date to go to the Delta Sigma Chi buffet supper, and when one finally did come her way Miss Clark was already engaged. She has been bewailing the fact ever since. Alpha Gam pledge Billie Dyer is in for a bit of throat splitting as far as Gilbert Reynolds is concerned. It all happened over the Military Ball. Ann Trent was sporting a sadly dilapidated orchid last week. The first noticed on her lapel at the basketball game, but its source seems to be unknown. Professor Martin of the Ag College presented KD's Marie Eba and Mary Jane Braly with two lovely little chickens. Owing to unfortunate circumstances, one passed away. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon with Brother (Cunnel to you, sub) Carl Corner officiating. The whole KD chapter regrets the demise of the fowl and is in the throes of agony. After much speculating and booking of odds among residents of the Alpha Gamma house, houseboy Jim Doyle will escort Elizabeth Moore to the SAE dinner dance. We've heard that the Sigma Nu's will go into extensive training for their forthcoming formal. In retaliation for their complaining about the hideous noise made by a fraternity across the street, we have heard that said fraternity had its revenge upon the inhabitants of Dunbar's house of charm. We can't be positive about the rumors, but their retaliation (a gratis decoration on the front lawn) was quite evident. Dick Robinson has been noticed chasing up and down the streets in Opal Hobb's car, the only male so far that has had the privilege of driving it. A tarty some got into some difficulty last week at the return of a former flame. We are deeply indebted to the senders of the lovely corsage expressing the sincere approval of our column, and will keep it in token of our profound appreciation. Now we hope everybody is satisfied.

"Anyone educated here shall not fail" is the unwritten slogan of radio station WHAS. For a great number of years this station has afforded a liberal education to a great number of stars and sent them on to bigger and better things, after firing them first. For instance, Ford Bond was once the recipient of the "can" after which he carved a place for himself with NBC, and today works on the "Ripley, Believe It or Not" program. In like manner, Don McNeil awoke one fine morning to find himself in the ranks of the unemployed, after which Columbia picked him up and today he is recognized as one of the best. More recently "Sam, Gill and Louie" were suddenly dropped from the pay-sheet after being with the station for seven years. At least three times a week now you can hear them on NBC with a much improved program and, according to the spokesman for the outfit, Louie Perkins, doing O. K.

Last Wednesday night a visitor to WHAS asked one of the operators, Bob McGregor, what he thought of the two new announcers. "Well," Bob replied, "they are just fine, but I don't know what they will sound like when their voices change."

Before many more "moons" elapse the government plans to re-allot the frequencies of every radio station in the United States in order to make way for more "super-powered" stations including some more half-million watt stations. One present 5,000 watt station, WLAC, Nashville, has already filed an application for a 50,000 watt transmitter. Here's hoping that WHAS receives permission to increase their power.

Each Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock the vice-president of WLAC takes a microphone into the state prison at Nashville and interviews some prisoner for 30 minutes on his complete life history, and how he deviated from the "straight and narrow." The program is commercially sponsored and at the present time, negotiations are under way to rent a line from Nashville to Lexington and have the program also carried by WLAC here in Lexington. We give you our word that you have never heard anything quite like it. Until next time then, so long.

Do I Sound Like That?

By GEORGE T. LAMASON

"I didn't think that I sounded like that!"

This is the usual reaction of students when they first hear recordings of their voices, according to William R. Sutherland, assistant professor of English.

Professor Sutherland is directing the making of approximately 500 "speech recordings of students in public speaking classes, voice study groups in the music department, French and Spanish conversation classes, and Guignol players.

"You can tell people in print in a 2,000 word essay what is wrong with their voices, and it will not be nearly as convincing as to let them hear themselves talk for four and one-half minutes on a record," said Professor Sutherland.

No one really knows how he speaks until he has heard a recording of his voice. The mental playback causes the speaker to hear his own voice in a sort of duet effect which his listeners do not hear.

This explains the surprise and embarrassment of the student when he hears his first recording. He is so accustomed to hearing the "duet" whenever he speaks that he does not recognize his own voice when he hears it played.

Recordings of both the first and last speeches of students in public speaking classes will be made. By comparing the two sets of records improvement during the course can be noted.

Records of the first speech are usually horrible reminders of short-circuits in speech. Students are urged to take these records home and play them. In this way defects in articulation, pronunciation, voice control, and vocal timber are made emphatically evident for self-criticism.

Anyone in the University can have a speech recording made by Mr. Sutherland for the cost of the record.

Prof. van de Wall Authors Music Book

Dr. Willem Van de Wall, professor of music education, has written a book entitled "The Music of the People," in which an entire chapter is devoted to the outstanding contribution of this university to music education in rural Kentucky. The book is expected to be off the press in ten days.

"The silence was greatly disturbed when 'Buster' Yancey started running around talking to all the women and 'Granville' Clark started to keep in with his flames. Mildred Crow kept the attention of a certain other S. A. E. while her glamorous Sister Evelyn Flowers looked for the one and only.

Jimmy Sanders and Jimmy Groselose were arguing about something or the other while Jean Ann Overstreet looked on with glancing eyes. In the north corner a loud noise followed out—it was the voice of Roger Brown in a session with John Morgan and "Chickie" Penn. This was very natural with Roger, he was very disturbing to Carl Corner who slept peacefully in the other corner. (Adv.)

Across The Airlanes

By PHIL SUTTERFIELD

When the University of Kentucky radio staff orchestra made its trip to Owensboro to participate in the dedication ceremony we tagged along merely for the sake of having something to do and the good time which always accompanies such trips. After stopping in Louisville to present the "Four Men and a Girl" program for the U. K. network from the key-station, WHAS, we headed for Owensboro, arriving about 6 p. m. The station was signed on the air by remote control from the ballroom of the Hotel Owensboro and featured the staff orchestra under the direction of E. G. Sulzer with WLW's sport commentator, Allen Franklin, acting as master of ceremonies. Included in the roster of well-known come acts present were "Betty and the E-corts," NBC artists; Angelo Riffelli, golden-voiced Italian lyric tenor of WLW; the "Vagabonds" from WSM, and the Clay Sisters representing WLAP. Our vote for the best act of the evening went to Angelo—maybe because we knew him when he sang on the old Mutual network a few years back.

ROBERT K. SALYERS, Secretary

McVey Plaque

With the realization that President McVey has rendered years of service to the University, a movement has been begun by which a bas-relief plaque in bronze is to be placed in the University library in recognition of his services.

The plaque will be six feet tall and four feet wide and will be the work of the sculptor Christian Peterson.

The amount to be raised for this purpose is approximately $2,000. Alumni interested in subscribing to a fund for this purpose are asked to send their contributions to Robert K. Salyers, Alumni secretary, University of Kentucky, Lexington, Ky.

Cleveland Alumni Club

The Cleveland alumni club plans a dinner dance for Saturday, March 12. The last dinner dance held by the club was December 11 of last year. A letter from Mrs. W. C. Bewley, 914 Dresden, states: "We had a grand turn-out, 39, the most we ever had. Had our dinner at 7:30, and a business meeting followed, with Bob Sherman, 27, 418 Rockefeller Building, Cleveland presiding."

"Officers elected were W. Crawford Bewley, 79, 914 Dresden Road, Cleveland, president; James Niedling, 15, 1794 Crawford Road, Cleveland, secretary and treasurer."

"The two new officers made a speech and then the oldest graduate was called upon, who was Leonard B. Allen, 99, 3070 Chadbourne Road, Shaker Heights, Ohio. Then the youngest graduate was called upon and this was Thomas R. Riley, 37, National Carbon Company, 9803 Lake Avenue, Cleveland. Both responded with splendid impromptu speeches."

"Dancing was from 10 until 2 and everyone voted it the nicest party we have ever had."

Alumni living in Cleveland and vicinity who are interested in attending the dinner dance March 12 should get in touch with Mr. Bewley, the president of the Cleveland club.

Gay-zing At Sports

By MARVIN GAY

KENTUCKY's all-conquering Wildcats, unscratched in conference warfare, enter the Southeastern tournament as favorites to retain their net diadem.

No one, despite the Rupps getting off on the right foot with a first round bye, expects the Cats to romp through with an easy triumph.

The lot of a favorite is always an unhappy one. No one realizes it better than does Adolph Rupp. Many times the canny Kansan has taken a "sure-thing" Kentucky five to the event only to be upset by some poorly regarded outsider.

Every team in the tournament will be gunning for Kentucky. Every team will be hoping and praying for an upset victory over the "Northerners." Yes, the deep South, we fear, regards the 'Cats as hated Yankee invaders.

When considering all these factors, this column fails to see why the Rupps should trek to L. S. U. expecting the crown to be handed them on a silver platter. Still, it is impossible to comprehend the workings of an athlete's mind. Ask any basketball, football, or what-have-you mentor, if you doubt this statement.

Tech Tough

In their first test, Kentucky must scrap with the victor of the Tulane-Georgia encounter. From this corner it appears that the 'Cats, if they win their initial test, will face the five they eliminated last season—Tech's Yellow Jackets.

The veteran Tech outfit remembers the licking handed them. This defeat was even more obnoxious as the Georgians had passed through a rocky conference card unmarred.

'Cats Pulling For Tulane

Undoubtedly, the 'Cats will be pulling for Tulane's Green Wave to sweep to a win over the Bulldogs.

Why?

While the 'Cats were in New Orleans, after having disposed of Pittsburgh, they had a friendly practice session with the Wave. It is a matter of note that the 'Cats had little trouble in outpointing Tulane's netters.

Rebels Rated High

Among the coaches of the deep South, Mississippi is rated on an equal basis with Kentucky. (Note—these mentors haven't seen this season's 'Cat five in action.)

Undoubtedly, the Mississippi five is a potent contender if for no other reason than that a lad named "Country" Graham is on the squad. This Rebel has tossed the ball through the hoop with monotonous regularity, as he smashed the conference scoring record with ease.

Coaches of Big 13 teams which have met the Rebels claim Mississippi has the title clinched, if Graham's tossing arm holds out.

Going out on the familiar limb, we believe that one of two teams will win the title—Kentucky or Mississippi. We might narrow the choice to Kentucky's 'Cats, but they already have enough weight to carry.

Among the dark horse contenders, Tennessee, Georgia Tech, Alabama (yes, the down-trodden Tide-ers), and Tulane must be considered.

In closing we wish the 'Cats the best thing we can think of—that they give all they've got, as they did against Marquette. And, we believe that will be plenty.

CATS TAKE VOLTS 29-26 TO END CONFERENCE PLAY WITHOUT LOSS

Playing their final game of the regular season, the Wildcat basketball team finished with a perfect Southeastern conference record, by outlasting the Tennessee Volunteers 29 to 26.

The winning of this season's championship makes a total of six conference championships for Kentucky quintets within the past eight years.

The 'Cats were leading 18 to 13 at halftime but ran into difficulties in the closing minutes of the game, as the Vols came back with a brilliant offensive drive to nearly overtake the leaders.

Coach Guillon of Tennessee held secret practice sessions in preparation for the Kentucky tilt and completely reorganized his team in an effort to avenge the 52 to 37 defeat experienced earlier in the season.

The Ruppsmen, however, after failing behind three to nothing in the first few minutes of play, overtook the Vols and held a lead throughout the remainder of the game. Kentucky was not up to its usual efficient standard of play and missed many scoring opportunities and frequently lost the ball on wild passes.

"Red" Hagan, playing his last collegiate game of the regular season, climaxed his sensational basketball career by leading the scoring with five field goals and four free throws, 14 points.

Bernie Opper, although handicapped by having three fouls called on him in the first few minutes of play, turned in a brilliant game with his defensive ball hawking and skillful offensive passing.

M'MILLIN

McMillin, now president of the national football coaches association and a member of its rules committee, was an All-American back with the Centre, "wonder team" of the early twenties. He is one of the country's outstanding football technicians and has been head football coach at Indiana University since 1934.

Ingwersen, an All-American guard during his playing days at Illinois, has been line coach at Northwestern during the past three years and is regarded as a highly efficient line coach.

Hunkle has been head football coach at Butler university since 1934. His teams won the state championship for three straight years.

Rupp and Kirwan, Kentucky's contribution to the coaching staff, are well known for the success of their teams. Rupp is considered one of the best basketball coaches in the country and has a record for consistently having winning teams.

FROSH WIN, LOSE IN 2 GAME SERIES

The University freshmen, after losing an overtime game Thursday, came back to avenge themselves, by defeating the Cumberland College basketball team 47 to 37, Friday night, and annexed the three game series between the two schools.

The Kentucky lads, after humbling the Cumberland quintet on the University floor in an overtime game two weeks ago, were overtaken by their opponents in another overtime tilt at the Cumberland gym, Thursday night.

Orme starred for Kentucky with a total of 20 points and tied with Stiner of Cumberland for high scoring honors. The winners led 28 to 10 at halftime. The losers, however, came back and outscored the Kittens 27 to 19 in the second half but were unable to overcome the big lead hung up by Kentucky in the initial frame.

HIGH SCHOOL NET TOURNAMENT OPENS THURSDAY

Featuring the defending state champion, Midway, the 43rd annual district basketball tournament will be held in Alumni gym Thursday through Saturday.

Ten teams, Wilmore, Athens, St. Catherine, Nicholasville, Midway, Bryan Station, Versailles, University high, Henry Clay and Picadome, will be battling to stay in the running for the state crown.

Thursday night's schedule calls for three contests: Versailles vs. University high (7 o'clock), Henry Clay vs. Picadome (8 o'clock), and Wilmore vs. Athens (9 o'clock).

The tournament, which is being directed by J. S. Mitchell, University training school, marks the eighth consecutive time the Purples have played host. Officials for the four sessions are Bernie Shively, University athletic director, and Frenchie DeMoisey, former Wildcat basketball star.

Bryan Station is the defending district title holder, as it managed to hand Midway's Bluejays their only defeat of last season.

Two teams, University high and Midway, rank as pre-tourney favorites. Coach Kemper's Purples, having their best season in several years, are a tough outfit to defeat. The rangy Purples have succeeded in outpointing several of the top-notch Central Kentucky conference fives.

Midway, on the other hand, has supporters who believe the Bluejays will win in a walk. This despite the fact that Coach Burns has stated that University high has the best team in the district. Two Midway cavers, Portwood and Murphy, performed on last season's championship team. Murphy, one of the highest scoring players in the history of the state, has averaged 29 points a game.

In their last few games, Henry Clay's Blue Devils have shown remarkable improvement. Coach Huber always can be depended on to place a smooth-working quintet on the floor at tournament time.

Bryan Station, despite a poor season, cannot be counted out of the running. Picadome, victor over University high early in the season, also must be considered a threat.

Students presenting ticket books will be admitted for 25 cents a session. However, ticket books will not be needed for the championship tilt Saturday afternoon.

Two UK Students Fight In Chicago

T. J. Gragg, Pineville, bantam-weight, and W. E. Shanklin, Elkton, middleweight, who won in their respective divisions in the recent local Golden Gloves contest, are representing the University in the national tournament of champions which opened last night in Chicago. Gragg was a member of the team which represented Kentucky's Golden Glove champions last year, and both boys are members of the University boxing team.

SHIVELY SAYS UK WILL REVIVE BASEBALL

By AL WHALEN

Declaring that intercollegiate baseball is necessary in a well-rounded college sports program, Athletic Director Bernie Shively in a short interview yesterday said that the national pastime would be revived as a major University sport.

Shively declared that the first thing to be considered was whether the money would be obtainable from the athletic budget to equip and support a baseball team and to build a diamond.

One of the main incentives for adding baseball as an intercollegiate sport is the abundance of seasoned material that is available, Shively added.

The new director pointed out that the team may have trouble arranging a satisfactory schedule for this spring because of the nearness of the opening of the season. The erection of a diamond may cause added delay, he said.

Nothing definite has been done toward arranging a schedule but Shively said that as soon as it is ascertained that baseball will fit into the athletic budget immediate action will be taken.

"By the spring of 1939," Shively declared, "the baseball team should be well organized. And we will have a good diamond to play on."
